1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 3, 1801. It is a very important document, as it is the first time that the President has addressed the Congress since the establishment of the office. The letter is written in a very formal and dignified style, and it contains many important points. The President begins by expressing his gratitude to the Congress for the honor of electing him to the office. He then goes on to discuss the state of the Union, and the progress of the government. He mentions the many difficulties that have been overcome, and the many successes that have been achieved. He also mentions the many challenges that still remain, and the need for the Congress to continue to support the President in his efforts to govern the country.
